

Kids Prov 123©

Concept created by: Susan Cunningham

August 1, 2013

Kids Prov 123© is a children's improv television show performed in front of a live studio audience. Skits, songs and games are driven by suggestions from in-studio and on-line (virtual) audiences.

The show format includes guest performers, contests between the performers, and opportunities for on-line submissions via YouTube and other social media platforms which will be judged with winners being invited to become in-studio audience for future episodes.

Improv may take the form of acting, dancing, singing, playing musical instruments, creating artwork, sculpture, poetry, and more.

Improv is sometimes referred to as "on-the-spot", "off-the-cuff", and "on-the-fly" performing. It is always unrehearsed. Kids Prov 123© performers will be spontaneously reacting to the moment and responding to their immediate environment and their inner feelings.

In addition to the entertainment value, Kids Prov 123© has strong educational value for teaching such concepts as multi-lateral and creative thinking, social skill building, extemporaneous speaking, communications and listening skills, body language, acting quickly, team building, decision making and non-structured thinking.

Preliminary logo design as of August 1, 2013 TM and © Novatar Productions, LLC